T H E Declaration,

Of the Gentlemen, Merchants, and Inhabitants of BOSTON, and the Country Adjacent. April 18th. 1689.

§ I. WEE have seen more than a decad of years rolled away, since the English World had the Discovery of an horrid Popish Plot; wherein the bloody Devils of Rome had in their Design and Prospect no less than the extinction of the Protestant Religion; which mighty Work they called the utter subduing of a Pestsilent Heresie: wherein (they said) there never were such hopes of Success since the Death of Queen Mary as now in our dayes. And we were of all Men the most insensible, if we should apprehend a Country so remarkable for the true Profession and pure Exercise of the Protestant Religion as New-England is, wholly unconcerned in the Infamous Plot; to crush and break a Country so intirely and signally made up of Reformed Churches, and at length to involve it in the miseries of an utter Extirpation: must needs carry even a Super erogation of merit with it, among such as were intoxicated with a Bigotry inspired into them by the great Scarlet Wore.

§ II. To get us within the reach of the desolation desired for us, it was no improper thing that we should first have our Charter Vacated and the hedge which kept us from the wild Beasts of the field effectually broken down. The accomplishment of this was hastned by the unwearied sollicitations and slanderous accusations of a man for his Malice and False-hood well known unto us all.

Our Charter was with a most injurious pretence (& scarce that) of Law, Condemned before it was possible for us to appear at Westminster in the legal defence of it: and without a fair leave to answer for our selves concerning the crimes falsely laid to our charge, we were put under a President and Council, without any liberty for an Assembly which the other American Plantations have, by a Commission from his Majesty.

§ III The Commission was as Illegal for the forme of it, as the way of obtaining it was Malicious and unreasonable: yet we made no resistance thereunto as wee could easily have done; but chose to give all Man-kind a demonstration of our being a people sufficiently dutifull and loyall to our King: and this with yet more Satisfaction because wee took pains to make our selves believe as much as ever we could of the Whedle then offer'd unto us; That his Majesty's desire was no other then the happy encrease & advance of these Provinces by their more immediate dependance on the Crown of England. And we were convinced of it by the courses immediately taken to damp and spoyle our trade; wherof decayes and complaints presently filled all th Country; while in the mean time neither the Honour nor the Treasure of the King was at all advanced by this new Model of our Affairs, but a considerable Charge added unto the Crown.

§ IV. In little more than half a Year we saw this Commission superseded by another, yet more Absolute and Arbitrary, with which Sr. Edmund Andross arrived as our Governour: who besides his Power, with the Advice and Consent of his Council, to make Laws and raise Taxes as he pleased; had also Authority by himself to Muster and Employ all Persons residing in the Territory as occasion shall serve; and to transfer such Forces to any English Plantation in America, as occasion shall require. And several Companies of Red Coats were now brought from Europe, to support what was to be Imposed upon us, not without repeated Menaces that some hundreds more were intended for us.

§ V. The Government was no sooner in these Hands, but care was taken to load Preferences principally upon such Men as were strangers to, and haters of the People: and every ones Observation hath noted, what Qualifications recommended a Man to publick Offices and Employments, only here and there a good man was used, where others could not easily be had;

BIOGRAPHICAL NOTICE OF JAMES HAMMOND TRUMBULL

FROM INTRODUCTORY NOTE TO TRUMBULL'S

List of Books Printed in Connecticut. ACORN CLUB. 1904

Born in Stonington, Connecticut, December 20, 1831; received his first degree at Yale College as a member of the Class of 1842; removed to Hartford, where he passed the remainder of his life, in 1847; served for the next five years and later for three more years as Assistant Secretary of the State, between which periods he was for a year State Librarian, the first to hold that office; Secretary of the State for five years, including the full period of the Civil War; first librarian of the Watkinson Library of Reference, holding that position from 1863 to January, 1891; President of the Connecticut Historical Society from 1863 to 1889; Secretary of Foreign Correspondence of the American Antiquarian Society from 1874; an original member and for one year President of the American Philological Association; member of many other learned societies—such is the briefest outline of the principal events in the life of James Hammond Trumbull, whose death occurred August 5, 1897. But above and beyond all these he was ever a student and a scholar, a man who seemed to be familiar with every subject. He was the foremost authority on the languages of the American Indians. His knowledge of books was second to that of no person in this country.

AN APPRECIATION OF JAMES HAMMOND TRUMBULL

By MISS ANNIE E. TRUMBULL

In one of the very few bits of personal data left by the late J. Hammond Trumbull, he says of himself that he has not been an idle man, but that he is not likely to be known as the doer of the great part of the work that he accomplished—an estimate which has been proved to be nearer the truth than have been many autobiographical judgments. That he was an idle man, no one who knew him even slightly or through correspondence is likely to assert, but perhaps no one who has not seen the pages of transcription of old records, in the beautifully regular and perfectly legible handwriting that he never lost, the ms. folios of Indian words and their grammatical inflections, the many carefully prepared pamphlets on many subjects from Algonkin roots to garden simples, the columns of newspaper contributions, the genealogical trees, the mass of bibliographical notes and the very large correspondence, much of which relates to questions from strangers, acquaintances and friends alike, can realize how far from idleness were the activities of more than seventy years. A considerable proportion of these questions, from those dealing with the Indian names for summer homes to the marriage ties of great grandfathers, required categorical answers, involving some research, which, for many years of a necessarily busy existence were rendered with meticulous attention, and, be it said, without thought on either side of financial considerations.

Recognized as an authority on the languages of North America and the colonial history of New England, as well as in the later paths of bibliography, a large part of the work to which he gave unstinted hours, has become, nevertheless, associated with the names of others rather than with his own, a natural enough consequence of the variety of interests which prevented his being content to till one field and to forget neighboring preserves which promised rewards to even a cursory agriculture.

It is not surprising that a letter addressed by him while still a young man to James Savage, the accomplished compiler of the Genealogical Dictionary, should have been inscribed "From J. H. Trumbull, the Worker"—a letter returned to the writer, by Mr. Savage's daughter, many years after.

The facts and dates of his biography have been given in several publications and need not be repeated here; it is more fitting that a few words be said of those tastes and occupations which are reflected in his collection of books and add a certain interest, at least, to the present sale. It is a collection which illustrates a diversity of what it is perhaps not too much to entitle gifts. His college course having been interrupted by ill-health, to remedy which he was obliged to spend much time in the open air, he became absorbed in the study of shells—a study favored by his home on the shore of Long Island Sound—and was a valued correspondent of the late James Linsley, an older scholar who exchanged with him data and specimens to their great mutual satisfaction and who credited him with the discovery of several polyps—or words to that effect. It is possible that it was this early training that made him so alert to details of natural science, instanced in his correspondence with scientists like the botanist Asa Gray, and the ichthyologist Spencer F. Baird.

His devotion to the history of New England, historically and genealogically considered, was also an early one—inherited from and shared by his father Gurdon Trumbull—himself no mean antiquarian—and led him into the deciphering of ancient manuscripts and a familiarity with cipher itself, which has left its traces in the small but valuable assemblage of little volumes, dealing with shorthand and its attendant familiars; while the number of local histories and books of family lineage, with many notes and interlinear comments, testify to his preference for what it may be, too fluid an epithet to pronounce the fountain-heads of information.

His attachment to books as books made itself felt during his tenure of state office, for it was he who made the first move in the direction of a well arranged State Library in Connecticut. Finding the books owned by the State in a sort of loft "over the Secretary's office" in the old City hall, he says in some ms. notes, "inconvenient of access and almost uncared for, I appropriated the east end of the lobby or upper hall; had it partitioned off, a comfortable room finished and furnished, ample for the accommodation of the library, then, but far too small now (1864), transferred the books thither, and next Spring, finding that my proceedings (which were without especial 'warrant of law' so far as the building a room was concerned) met the cordial approval of the Legislature, I drew and procured the passage of a resolution which provided for the immediate and progressive increase of the library, by the completion of its series of American reports."

Much later his plan for the founding of the Watkinson Library of Reference of Hartford, of which he became librarian was pronounced to be remarkably comprehensive and discriminating, and his pursuit of its affairs during that part of his life in which he was actively engaged in its management was of such a persistent nature as to draw from a juvenile member of his family the naive inquiry as to whether at the attainment of adult life she was to be permitted to read "catalogues"—publications which had become for her invested with the lure of a profound and irresistible fascination. His library of books in and upon the Languages of North America became the property of the Watkinson Library, by purchase, soon after his death.

Always enthusiastically interested in the achievements of Connecticut, jealous of her rivals and indignant with her traducers, he found time to explain, subvert and expand matters which concerned her in pamphlets, magazine articles and newspapers, and no trifles of reminiscence were so unconsidered that he did not find them worthy of a certain longevity—a fact which has imparted to members of his household an almost superstitious reverence for a stray leaf or a forgotten program of exercises—a sentiment standing somewhat in the way of the austerity of discrimination when it has come to a question of final disposal. Among other episodes of such history his attention was rivetted by that of the Case of Elizabeth Canning which drew into its toils so many Englishmen of parts, including Henry Fielding. The collection of publications dealing with this cause célèbre is perhaps more nearly complete than that of any other extant, although the circle of its interested commentators can hardly be an extended one today.

Another little group of books dealing with one subject is that which concerns itself with Liberty Caps and other emblems, owing its inception, I fancy, to some question or casual paragraph which aroused an investigator's instinct, among them being one from the library of Thomas Hollis, with his autograph and book-plate.

It is to be expected that the library should be generous in its provision of books printed in Connecticut and in the sermons of its eminent divines, such as the Reverend Thomas Hooker. The theological magnet was sufficiently powerful to draw into the New England circuit the utterances of earlier protesting preachers and divines, reaching even to those of Luther and Erasmus, some of whose rare tracts are to be found among more native polemics, clouded, as they sometimes were, by mists of once famous local controversies.

One of the founders and presidents of the American Philological Association, Dr. Trumbull not only prepared for it papers upon many aspects of the Indian languages, but was led into byways of derivations and similitudes and felicities of other tongues. His facility of language was undeniable, although he spoke none but English with ease, but he learned to read, with but little difficulty, any that happened to be of even transient use to him, and that exquisite penmanship, perhaps already sufficiently dwelt upon by one having the advantages of its intimate observation without what should have been emulation, made his transcription of Greek and Arabic and Hebrew and even the Egyptian hieroglyphics, that of an expert. Thus his library contains many dictionaries and grammars and books on words, even to Chinese commentaries, and incursions into the tangled web of the deceits of phonetic spelling—that lure of spirits even graver than those of Philological Associations. These susceptibilities are of course shared by many readers who have found several departments of research more fascinating than absorption in a single one, with its advantage of acknowledged authority, but they have certainly the compensations of wide appeal and swifter reactions. Moreover there was opportunity for the employment of many odd bits of gleaned information in the preparation of that catalogue of the library of his friend Mr. George Brinley, which is said to be of permanent value to bibliographers—so far, at least, as one reckons such permanency of achievement. Never able to spend large sums on the purchase of books, his own library is the result rather of what he would have called lucky finds, together with what were certainly discrimination in choice, of quick recognition of values and of a genuine love of historical indications and illuminations. What would have always been his great pleasure in his long friendship with Mr. Brinley was naturally cemented by their common interest in books and their mutual satisfactions in the incitements and excitements of discovery and acquisition.

His wide correspondence with men in various departments of scholarship has left a mass of letters from philologists like William D. Whitney and James Hadley of Yale, English scholars like F. J. Child of Harvard and T. R. Lounsbury of Yale, historians like George Bancroft, Francis Parkman and J. G. Palfrey with historical writers too numerous to mention, among them Robert C. Winthrop and Mr. Charles Francis Adams, Franklin B. Dexter, editors like Henry Martyn Dexter, William Hayes Ward and William P. Garrison, Henry L. Wayland, bibliographers like Henry Stevens of the British Museum, George H. Moore, W. H. Whitmore and Mr. Wilberforce Eames—a list which would be too long to complete. Besides these there are many occasional communications from writers, classed as men of letters rather than as specialists, like E. C. Stedman, Henry Adams, Thomas L. Higginson, and Dr. Edward E. Hale, together with single letters regarding some particular bit of work or information, like his Indian paraphrase of some lines of Hiawatha which drew an acknowledgment from Longfellow. There is great temptation to transcribe some of the wit and criticism and gracious acknowledgement of these correspondents, whose letters often cover years of exchange, but there is no place for them here: it is enough to say that traces of them also are to be found in his library in the form of autographed publications and unclassified monographs, bearing witness to this same variety of interests which made other men's specialties at least transiently his own. Among these more notable communications there are inquiries and acknowledgments without number in the spheres of the Indian languages, New England history and genealogy and the value of those volumes found when country garrets give up their dead theology and "occasional" verse; from the probable price of an old spelling-book or the importance to mankind of a paper prepared by a later, but still unknown, author, upon a corner of the province of knowledge.

One may smile at the ingenuousness of requests to immediately send an Indian name for a racing filly—preferred through a secretary—or one to suspend other operations and find out at once, for the benefit of an entire stranger, if a lady friend of the writer had been legitimately committed to the Hartford Retreat. Such requests undoubtedly form part of the correspondence of many men who have taken "a look in" to many channels of information, but breed, nevertheless, a gentle wonder at the number of people to whom the time of a busy man is a valueless asset. Irrelevant as these appear in the midst of technical inquiries from scholars and specialists regarding some detail of their own work upon which they felt their correspondent could throw light, I am quite sure from a general knowledge of the recipient's character, that the draft was honored when at all possible, even when it encroached upon capital which seemed to belong to other outlays. That many of these episodes should find their more permanent and impersonal representation in his library is to be expected, and while the greater part of his books belonging to what one may term pure literature, such as verse, novels, essays and plays, have been withheld from the present sale, there are many proofs of this tendency to loiter outside of his own accepted field, from the product of early printing-presses to pamphlets upon Civil Service Reform. What must of necessity become the scattered items of a collection of books thus made and cherished with intelligence and abiding interest, are now offered for sale in the hope that they will become the property of those who will find and value in them some of the same interest and a kindred sympathy of possession.

ANNIE E. TRUMBULL

PREFATORY NOTE

The Library of the late James Hammond Trumbull herein catalogued comprises his entire collection of books and tracts other than those left to Historical Institutions, and is one of the most important collections of Connecticut Historical material gathered by a Private Collector, and to be offered at public sale within recent years. In historical interest the collection ranks well with the Connecticut section of the Brinley Library, containing several books from this famous collection bought by Mr. Trumbull at the dispersal of the same. Among the many literary treasures will be found some of the more notable books and tracts of Colonial and Revolutionary period relating to this and other sections of New England. The collection is rich in eighteenth century historical sermons and tracts, including a number of works by the celebrated divines of the period. Besides the Connecticut section, the library contains a number of important items relating to other parts of New England and the Atlantic states, as well as some of interest to the Western Collector. Several fine copies of the Classics printed in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries will also be found among the various items herein catalogued, as well as a collection of books and pamphlets on languages, Bibliography, Magazines and Newspapers.

Many of the books or pamphlets are autographed or inscribed by their author, to Mr. Trumbull, while a number of them have additional historical or biographical notes on margins added by the late owner during his studies and researches in New England history, a feature adding to the historical interest of the items.

Among some of the more important items mention is made of the following,—

Early ALMANACS, including the rare Leeds Almanack, printed by William Bradford in 1700 [No. 17]; Rare REVOLUTIONARY ITEMS, including,—Broadside relating to the Boston Massacre, 1770 [No. 25]; Heads of Inquiry, a rare tract relating to Connecticut under the administration of Governor Trumbull, printed at New-London in 1775 [No. 30]; The Rare Hartford and New-London Editions of the seven numbers of The Crisis, 1775 [No. 32]; MOSES MATHER'S Appeal To the Impartial World, 1775 [No. 34]; Address to Major-General Tryon, relative to his Expedition into Connecticut, 1779 [No. 44]; ETHAN ALLEN'S Narrative, Boston, 1779 [No. 45]; Address on the National Debt, by the United States Congress, 1783 [No. 50]; and others of interest; An important historical four-page folder printed at Boston, by Green and Harris, in 1689, relative to ANDROS' OPPRESSION AND THE REVOLUTION IN NEW ENGLAND, and said to have been written by Cotton Mather [No. 101]; Complete Set of the Original Issue of Backus's History of New England, 1777-1796; Rare Tracts Relative to "The Bank of Credit," Boston, 1714-1751 [No. 110]; The Original Issue of Book of Common Prayer, 1786, the first Episcopal Prayer-Book printed after the Revolution, known as "The Proposed Prayer-Book" [No. 156]; An Important collection of books printed by WILLIAM BREWSTER (Known as "Elder Brewster," one of the passengers in the "May-Flower") at Leyden, 1617-1619 [Nos. 165 to 173]; Rare tract the "Calvanistic Clubs in America," 1800 [No. 189]; ROGER WOLCOTT'S Letter relative to the Cambridge-Saybrook Controversy, 1761 [No. 192]; An Extensive and important collection of Books and Tracts relative to ELIZABETH CANNING, 1753 [No. 196]; Original Edition of WILKINS'S Mercury, 1641, an early work on Code-Writing [No. 225], COLONIAL DOCUMENTS AND DEEDS, early 17th Century [Nos. 230 to 235]; Rare tracts on COLONIAL TAXATION, including Original Edition of INGERSOLL'S Letters relating to the Stamp Act, 1766 [Nos. 241 to 248]; Original Issues of ACTS OF CONGRESS, signed in the autograph of Thomas Jefferson, 1790-1792 [Nos. 251a to 251c]; Fine set of GREEN'S Connecticut Register, 1784-1890 [No. 268]; An anonymous tract on the CONSTITUTION of the United States—The Weakness of Brutus exposed, 1787 [No. 285]; Early American ENGRAVED MUSIC, 1723–1782, including a hitherto unrecorded issue (the Second) of WALTER'S Grounds and Rules of Musick Explained, Boston, 1723, the first music book printed with bars in America [No. 325]; EARLY AMERICAN PLAYS, including a fine copy of The Double Conspiracy, With Epilogue by John Trumbull, 1783 [No. 330]; EARLY AMERICAN POETRY, 1725 to 1824, including the Original Edition of WOLCOTT'S Poetical Meditations, New London, 1725, the first volume of poetry printed in Connecticut [No. 334]; Fine copy of PITTMAN'S Present State of the European Settlements on the Mississippi, 1770 [No. 366]; Tracts on POLITICAL LIBERTY IN ENGLAND, in the 17th century; Two original issues of ELIOT'S Indian Tracts; Original Issue of The Federal Reconciler, 1793 [No. 405]; Two fine sets of FORCE'S Tracts; Original Issue of FRANKLIN'S Experiments, 1754; FRENCH AND INDIAN WAR Broadside and Tracts, including,—Elegy on the Death of Dr. Nathaniel Burt, 1755 [No. 425]; The Boston Edition, 1758, of LIVINGSTON'S Review of the Military Operations in North America [No. 427]; and WILLIAMS'S Relations of God's People, New London, 1760 [No. 431]; An important Collection of BOOKS ON AMERICAN GENEALOGY AND FAMILY HISTORY [Nos. 436 to 496]; including a copy of SAVAGE'S Genealogical Dictionary [No. 480]; Books on HAWAII AND THE SOUTH SEAS; An important Collection of Books by THOMAS HOOKER, 1638–1659 [Nos. 579 to 593]; Rare Kentucky Broadside, 1798; A notable collection of tracts relative to LAND GRANTS OF CONNECTICUT, 1769–1800, including the Susquehanna and Gore grants [Nos. 631 to 647]; STILES'S Oration on Jonathan Law, 1751 [No. 661]; Important Tracts, Sermons, and Manuscript Sermons by COTTON, INCREASE AND RICHARD MATHER [Nos. 715 to 730]; PHILIP MELANCHTHON'S COPY, with his autograph note, of Ziegler's Oratio de Coniunctione, 1549 [No. 733]; The very rare Original Issue of the Trial of JOSEPH SMITH AND OTHER MORMONS, Documents containing the Correspondence, Orders, etc. Fayette, 1841 [No. 747]; An important collection of EARLY CONNECTICUT and other newspapers, 1756–1786 [Nos. 777 to 794] including a long series of Connecticut Gazette, and the New-Haven Gazette; Rare Original Issue of An Account of the Surprising Events . . . at the Raising of a Bridge in Norwich, 1728. ## Conditions of Sale

1. Any bid which is merely a nominal or fractional advance may be rejected by the auctioneer, if, in his judgment, such bid would be likely to affect the sale injuriously.

2. The highest bidder shall be the buyer, and if any dispute arise between two or more bidders, the auctioneer shall either decide the same or put up for re-sale the lot so in dispute.

3. Payment shall be made of all or such part of the purchase money as may be required, and the names and addresses of the purchasers shall be given immediately on the sale of every lot, in default of which the lot so purchased shall be immediately put up again and re-sold.

Payment of that part of the purchase money not made at the time of sale, shall be made within ten days thereafter, in default of which the undersigned may either continue to hold the lots at the risk of the purchaser and take such action as may be necessary for the enforcement of the sale, or may at public or private sale, and without other than this notice, re-sell the lots for the benefit of such purchaser, and the deficiency (if any) arising from such re-sale, shall be a charge against such purchaser.

4. Delivery of any purchase will be made only upon payment of the total amount due for all purchases at the sale.

Deliveries will be made on sales days between the hours of 9 A. M. and 1 P. M., and on other days—except holidays—between the hours of 9 A. M. and 5 P. M.

Delivery of any purchase will be made only at the American Art Galleries, or other place of sale, as the case may be, and only on presenting the bill of purchase.

Delivery may be made, at the discretion of the Association, of any purchase during the session of the sale at which it was sold.

5. Shipping, boxing or wrapping of purchases is a business in which the Association is in no wise engaged, and will not be performed by the Association for purchasers. The Association will, however, afford to purchasers every facility for employing at current and reasonable rates carriers and packers; doing so, however, without any assumption of responsibility on its part for the acts and charges of the parties engaged for such service.

6. Storage of any purchase shall be at the sole risk of the purchaser. Title passes upon the fall of the auctioneer's hammer, and thereafter, while the Association will exercise due caution in caring for and delivering such purchase, it will not hold itself responsible if such purchase be lost, stolen, damaged or destroyed.

Storage charges will be made upon all purchases not removed within ten days from the date of the sale thereof.

7. Guarantee is not made either by the owner or the Association of the correctness of the description, genuineness or authenticity of any lot, and no sale will be set aside on account of any incorrectness, error of cataloguing, or any imperfection not noted. Every lot is on public exhibition one or more days prior to its sale, after which it is sold "as is" and without recourse.

The Association exercises great care to catalogue every lot correctly, and will give consideration to the opinion of any trustworthy expert to the effect that any lot has been incorrectly catalogued, and, in its judgment, may either sell the lot as catalogued or make mention of the opinion of such expert who thereby would become responsible for such damage as might result were his opinion without proper foundation.

SPECIAL NOTICE

Buying or bidding by the Association for responsible parties on orders transmitted to it by mail, telegraph or telephone, will be faithfully attended to without charge or commission. Any purchase so made will be subject to the above Conditions of Sale, which cannot in any manner be modified. The Association, however, in the event of making a purchase of a lot consisting of one or more books for a purchaser who has not, through himself or his agent, been present at the exhibition or sale, will permit such lot to be returned within ten days from the date of sale, and the purchase money will be returned, if the lot in any material manner differs from its catalogue description.

Orders for execution by the Association should be written and given with such plainness as to leave no room for misunderstanding. Not only should the lot number be given, but also the title, and bids should be stated to be so much for the lot, and when the lot consists of one or more volumes of books or objects of art, the bid per volume or piece should also be stated. If the one transmitting the order is unknown to the Association, a deposit should be sent or reference submitted. Shipping directions should also be given.

Priced copies of the catalogue of any sale, or any session thereof, will be furnished by the Association at a reasonable charge.

There is nothing to indicate where this rare tract is printed. Dr. Trumbull in his bibliography of books printed in Connecticut queries the place of publication as Hartford.

Written by "Juvenis," it is a violent attack on Major-General Tryon, and states: "Nothing is more intolerable than a villain in power. You, Sir, are a person whom Heaven in its wrath has permitted to be a scourge to mankind. . . . There is not a single crime in the whole catalogue of vices, which at one time or another, you have not perpetrated . . . ."

London: Printed for the Publick good, 1652

With autograph inscription by Mr. Trumbull,—By a Socinian. John Biddle?

RARE UNITARIAN TRACT. Biddle, the Unitarian son of Edward Biddle, was several times imprisoned for his religious beliefs. In February 1652, by the will of Cromwell, a general act of oblivion was passed which restored Biddle and others to full liberty.

The author of this work, published anonymously, is probably as Trumbull states John Biddle, who is said to have translated and published at home and in Holland a number of Socinian works.

[Strassburg: Wendel Rihel, 1552]
FIRST LATIN EDITION. Bock, or Tragus as he is called, wrote the above work in German, published under title, Kreuterbuch, 1546. The drawings were done by a young Strassburg artist, the plants being drawn under Bock's supervision at Hombach. The translator, David Kyber, was also a resident of Strassburg.
There are references to "Indianischer" [i.e. American] plants, on pp.650, 835, 894-6, 928-30.
The illustrations in the first part of the book have been colored by hand at a much later period than the printing of the book.

(Together with the Psalter: Selected from the Psalms of David; [Also] Hymns suited to the Feasts and Fasts of the Church. . . ; Tunes suited to the Psalms and Hymns of the Book of Common Prayer.) 12mo, 186 leaves, old sheep, rubbed, name on first leaf of text. Philadelphia: Printed by Hall and Sellers, 1786

RARE ORIGINAL EDITION of the first Episcopal Prayer Book printed in the United States after the American Revolution. This book, known as "the Proposed Prayer Book," is the result of a Convention met at Philadelphia in 1785 to alter the Book of Common Prayer of the Church of England to the changed condition of the country. It was superseded by the 1790 Philadelphia edition.

This copy contains the 8 pages of engraved music, with separate title.

No place, circa 1800
Note from Brinley copy, No. 2209 in Brinley catalogue,—“Connecticut is almost totally an ecclesiastical state, ruled by the President of the College [Dr. Dwight], as by a Monarch” (p.14). “Time Only can determine who have done most injury to Christianity, Paine, or the Calvinistic clubs”. The name of the author of this tract (which is now scarce) seems to have remained unknown. Mr. Brinley's copy has, on the first leaf, the name of ‘J. Andrews from L. Andrews’, and below the half-title, in the handwriting ‘J. C. Ogden’ i.e. the Rev. J. C. Ogden, of New Haven, 1770–85, afterwards rector of the Episcopal Church in Portsmouth, N. H., and again for a time in Connecticut, after 1793. I infer that the tract was printed by Loring Andrews in Stockbridge, about 1800.”

Double-ruled margins. Small 8vo, old morocco, binding in poor condition, small stains on title and a few leaves.

London, Printed by I. Norton, for John Maynard and Timothy Wilkins

FIRST EDITION. RARE. GOOD COPY. In a few leaves the top has been trimmed to outer margin line, but otherwise the margins are wide, and aside from a few light stains, the interior of the volume is in excellent condition. There is a manuscript note in an old hand, dated 1640, below the "Finis." The pagination is very irregular, but the collation agrees with that of the Hoe copy, and of the Wheeler copy in the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

CURIOUS EARLY WORK ON THE THEORIES OF THE MAGNETIC FIELD, AS WELL AS ON CODE WRITING, OR CRYPTOGRAPHY, from which the telegraphic codes were later developed. The author of this ingenious work refers, p.147, to the directive, magnetic action of the earth; to induction through thick masses; and to the magnetic field. The suppressed simultaneous operation of sympathetic magnets, p.146; the efficacy of pipes and tubes for the transmission of sound, p.133; and gives a DESCRIPTION OF A PHONOGRAPH, from which the "words shall come out distinctly and in the same order wherein they were spoken," p.134.

JOHN WILKINS, afterwards Bishop of Chester, was always greatly interested in mathematics and magnetism, and also experimented in perpetual motion, and at the time this work was written was acting as Chaplain to his patron, George, Lord Berkeley, to whom he dedicates the book. He was one of the founders of the Royal Society, and its first Secretary.

268. CONNECTICUT REGISTER. Complete set of the Connecticut Register from 1785, 1786, 1789 to 1873, inclusive; also for the years 1880, 1888 and 1891. 61 vols. in 13 vols. half roan, and 30 vols. cloth. Together, 91 vols. in 43 vols. 16mo and 12mo. The Register for 1812 has one leaf torn out (pp. 58 and 59). New London and Hartford [1784-1890]

An unusually long series of this important Register, which includes all of the very rare early numbers. The set is made up as follows:

Published by T. Green and Son, for the years, 1785-1848

Published by C. W. Bradley, Jr., for the years, 1847-1873, and 1880

Published by State of Connecticut, for the years, 1888 and 1891

Of this important Connecticut item, very little information regarding the earlier issues is at hand. All the issues before 1830 are rare, those before 1800 being very rare; while the first four,—1785, 1786, 1789 and 1790 are exceedingly scarce. No issues were apparently put forth for the years 1787 and 1788. Bradley's Register was commenced in 1847, and in 1849 it was combined with Green's.

269. CONNECTICUT REGISTER. Green's, 1820, 1823, 1844 and 1848; Norton and Russell, 1827 (2 copies), 1828 (2 copies), 1829, 1830 and 1831; Bradley's, 1847 (2 copies). 5 vols. in 1 vol. half roan, 2 vols. cloth, 5 vols. wrappers, 1 vol. half calf. Together, 13 vols. bound in 9 vols. 16mo.

Hartford and New London [1819-1846]

their humble Petition, that they would do what may be expected from Christian Magistrates, in suppressing Blasphemous Books. Printer's device on title. Small 4to, title and pp.12, half morocco, title soiled, some small stains, slight tear in inner margin of a few leaves.

London: Printed for the Subscribers hereof, 1654

RARE TRACT, PROTESTING AGAINST BOTH POPISH AND QUAKER LITERATURE. Dated at end, Oct. 9, 1654, and signed by the following London stationers,—Luke Fawne, Samuel Gellibrand, Joshua Kirton, John Rothwell, Thomas Underhill and Nathaniel Webb.

One of several controversial tracts, the first of which, entitled, A Beacon set on Fire, by the same writers as the above, was published in 1652, and brought forth in answer, The Beacon Flaming with a Non Obstante, by Francis Cheynell, and The Beacon Quenched, presumably by Roger Williams, both the same year, 1652. Roger Williams, in a letter to Gregory Dexter, dated 8th, 7, 52, speaks of these tracts, and also of a Second Beacon Fired. As the above was not published until two years later, and if the date given for this letter is correct, there may have been an earlier tract bearing the same title, although no other mention of a similar tract can be found. George Fox also makes a reply to the above, in his The Great Mystery of the Great Whore, London, 1659.

95. 325. EARLY AMERICAN ENGRAVED MUSIC. Walter (Thomas). The Grounds and Rules of Musick Explained: Or, An Introduction to the Art of Singing by Note. Fitted to the meanest Capacities. By Thomas Walter, M.A. Recommended by several Ministers. The Second Edition. Oblong 16mo, sheep, shaken, small hole in music leaf.

Boston: Printed by B. Green, for S. Gerrish, . . . 1723

This is the Second Edition of "THE FIRST MUSIC BOOK PRINTED WITH BARS IN AMERICA," AND AN ITEM OF EXCESSIVE RARITY. UNKNOWN TO EVANS, NO COPY LOCATED, AND POSSIBLY UNIQUE. Hood had not seen this or the FIRST EDITION of 1721, but took his title of the work from the 1760-63 edition printed by Mecom.

The engraved tunes which are composed of three parts only, made up of half and whole notes, are the work of an early Boston engraver, contemporary with Thomas Johnston, and possibly by him; although Johnston was born in 1708, he showed marked ability three years after the printing of this work.

Collation: Title, 1 leaf (verso blank); "A Recommendatory Preface," signed by Increase and Cotton Mather and 20 other ministers, pp.iii; Musical Characters, 1p.; "Some Brief and very plain Instructions for Singing by Note." pp.25; "A Table of the Tunes." 1p.; Engraved Music, pp.15 (lacks p.16).

The present copy is perfect with the exception of the last leaf of engraved music. Immediately following are 40 manuscript pages of music notes.

7. 326. EARLY AMERICAN ENGRAVED MUSIC. Lyon (James). Urania, or A Choice Collection of Psalm-Tunes, Anthems, and Hymns, from the most approv'd Authors, with some Entirely New; in Two, Three, and Four Parts. The whole Peculiarly adapted to the Use of Churches and Private Families. To which are Prefix'd the Plainest & most Necessary Rules of Psalmody. Title-page engraved on copper by Henry Dawkins. Oblong 16mo, undressed calf, slightly stained, title-page loose; first two leaves, including title are somewhat torn. [Philadelphia: Printed by William Bradford, 1761]

One of the earliest books of its kind. The engraved title, rules and tunes were engraved on copper by Henry Dawkins.

Collation: Title, 1 leaf; Explanation of the Gamut, pp.III-XII; Engraved Music, pp.1-196 (lacks pp.197-198). Also lacks 7 pages of Introductory Matter preceding the engraved title.

3. 327. EARLY AMERICAN ENGRAVED MUSIC. [Jocelin (Simeon).] The Chorister's Companion: or Church Music Revised. Containing, Besides the Necessary Rules of Psalmody; a Variety of Plain and Fuging Psalm Tunes: Together with a Collection of Approved Hymns and Anthems. Many of which, never before printed. Amos Doolittle Sculpt. 1782. Oblong 12mo, old boards, sheep back, outer edge of front cover broken off, name Claudius Herrick on title, some leaves slightly stained, small tears in 2 leaves. New Haven: Printed [by T. and S. Green] for and Sold by Simeon Jocelin and Amos Doolittle [1782]

The music is engraved by Amos Doolittle, engraver of the first historical engraving made in America. The Preface is dated December 16, 1782. Advertised in the Connecticut Gazette of February 21, 1783, as just published.

50. 330. EARLY AMERICAN PLAY. The Double Conspiracy, or Treason Discovered but not Punished. A Matter of Fact, Delineated after the Life, in the Form of A Play. 8vo, 85, (2), stitched. In cloth folder, lettered. ENTIRELY UNCUT.

Printed in the Year 1783

AN EXCEEDINGLY FINE COPY OF THIS RARE PLAY. Dr. Trumbull in his Bibliography of books printed in Connecticut (No. 609) queries the printer and place of printing as Hudson & Goodwin, Hartford.

"Scene, The State of Connecticut." The paper and type are the same as in the FIRST EDITION of "M'Fingal" printed by Hudson and Goodwin in 1782. The Epilogue is either by the author of the "Modern Epic," or an excellent imitation of his style." . . . Excerpt from Dr. Trumbull's bibliography. It is interesting however to note that in the above, his own copy of the play he has written "by John Trumbull," down as the author of the "Epilogue. To be spoken by Mrs. Gibber," and not with the suggestion that it might be by him.

WE BELIEVE THIS TO BE THE FINEST COPY OF THE WORK KNOWN, AND TO BE THE FIRST TIME THAT IT HAS BEEN OFFERED FOR PUBLIC SALE.

The issue for May, 1818, contains a very interesting account of American steamboats, which is probably the earliest reference to the same made in British India. It reads in part, as follows,—". . . A few years ago, a gentleman in America imagining that Boats might also be moved by means of steam . . . prepared a vessel without oars, and placed a steam engine in the middle of it. . . . When the engine was put in motion, these wheels moved round . . . and it now in almost universal use, both in England and in America."

On the opposite pages is the native language.

London, Printed by G. Dawson for Giles Calvert at the Signe of the black spread Eagle at the westend of Pauls. 1649

A REMARKABLE TRACT. The view of political liberty here set forth is far in advance of the usual pamphleteer of the period. There is a curious analogy between the arguments of "J. W." herein, and those of John Winthrop in his Little Speech, in 1645.

369. EARLY WORK ON POLITICAL LIBERTY. Digges (Dudley). The Unlawfulness of Subjects Taking up Arms against their Sovereigne, in what case soever. . . . Engraved title. Small 8vo, pp.(8), 170 (i.e. 202), old calf, hinges breaking, covers cracked by fire, engraved title pasted at inner margin to fly-leaf, damaging edge of plate.

London, Printed by Thomas Mabb, for William Sheares . . . 1662

This defence of the doctrine of passive obedience was widely popular among the Royalists during the Civil War in England, and went through several editions. The author was a son of Sir Dudley Digges.

370. EARLY WORK ON POLITICAL LIBERTY. English Liberty Established: or, The most material Circumstances relative to John Wilkes, Esq.; Member of Parliament for the County of Middlesex. Engraved portrait. 8vo, pp.32, half roan. London, 1769

Contains Wilkes' Letter to the Duke of Grafton relative to his arrest in 1763, his Address of Thanks on being elected a Member from Middlesex, his Speech, April, 1768, relative to his arrest on his return to England, his address dated "Kings-Bench Prison, June 18, 1768;" and the poem "Wilkes and liberty." RARE.

371. EARLY WEST. Drake (Daniel). Remarks on the Importance of Promoting Literary and Social Concert, in the Valley of the Mississippi, as a Means of Elevating Character, and Perpetuating the Union. Delivered in the Chapel of Transylvania University, to the Literary Convention of Kentucky, November 8, 1833. 8vo, pp.26, original wrappers, uncut.

Louisville: Published by Members of the Convention, at the Office of the Louisville Herald, 1833

Author's autograph presentation inscription, to Rev. Mr. Gaillardet [Rev. Thomas Gallaudet]. RARE.

372. EAST HARTFORD, CONNECTICUT. Goodwin (Joseph O.) East Hartford: Its History and Traditions. 8vo, cloth. Hartford, 1879

373. ECHO (THE) with other Poems. Engraved title-page and plates by Leney, after designs by Tisdale. 8vo, original boards, uncut, back broken, very slight fox-marks on some margins.

[New York:] Printed at the Porcupine Press by Pasquin Petronius [1807]

An unusually large and entirely uncut copy. The authors were,—Alsop, Dwight, Cogswell, Hopkins, and Trumbull.

374. ECHO (THE), with Other Poems. Engraved title and plates by Leney, after Tisdale. 8vo, cloth, text somewhat stained, some pencil notes scattered throughout text. [New York, 1807]

375. ECHO (THE). Engraved title-page and plates by Leney, after designs by Tisdale (lacks one plate). 8vo, original sheep, rubbed, a few fox-marks in text. [New York, 1807]

First Session, Tuesday Afternoon, March 22nd

376. ECLIPSE OF THE SUN. Darkness at Noon; or, the Great Solar Eclipse, of the 16th of June, 1806, described and represented in every particular. Containing, also, An Explanation of Eclipses in General, and the Causes on which they Depend. By an Inhabitant of Boston. Woodcuts. Half morocco, lettered in gilt up back, gilt top, several corners repaired.

Boston: Published by D. Carlisle & A. Newell, May 1806

Attributed to Andrew Newell.

377. EDWARDS (JONATHAN). A Faithful Narrative of the Surprising Work of God in the Conversion of Many Hundred Souls in Northampton, and the Neighbouring Towns and Villages of the County of Hampshire. In a letter to Dr. Benjamin Colman, of Boston. Published with a Large Preface by the Rev. Dr. Watts and Dr. Guyse of London. Third Edition. 16mo, stitched, edges cut close, shaving few lines of text. Boston, 1738

With signature,—John Lloyd's Book 1738. The author reviews the character of the people of New Hampshire.

378. EDWARDS (JONATHAN). A Farewel-Sermon Preached at the first Precinct in Northampton, On June 22, 1750. 12mo, pp.34, stitched, pp. 21–22 have margin torn with a loss of a few letters.

Hartford: Printed by Green, and Watson [1768]

With inscription,—Alexander Gillets book 1771 and 1782.

379. EDWARDS (JONATHAN). Sinners in the Hands of an angry God. A Sermon, Preached at Enfield, July 8, 1741, at a time of Great Awakenings; and attended with Remarkable Impressions On many of the Hearers. 16mo, pp.33, (I), (I), stitched, uncut, foxed.

New-York: Printed by G. Forman, for C. Davis, 1797

RARE NEW YORK IMPRINT. With leaf of advertisement by Cornelius Davis Bookseller, at end.

380. EDWARDS (THOMAS). Antapologia: Or, A Full Answer to the Apologeticall Narration of Mr. Goodwin, Mr. Nye, Mr. Sympson, Mr. Burroughs, Mr. Bridge, Members of the Assembly of Divines. Small 4to, calf, binding broken at hinges.

London, Printed by G. M. for John Bellamie, . . . 1644

With reference to the Churches in England and Cotton Mather, pp. 43 to 50.

381. EELLS (NATHANAEL—of Stonington, Conn.). The wise Ruler a loyal Subject. A Sermon preached in the Audience of the General Assembly of the Colony of Connecticut, on their Anniversary Election in Hartford, May 12th, 1748. Some things omitted in the Delivery, now inserted in their proper places. 16mo, pp.[4], 51, stitched, uncut, half-title torn.

N. London: Printed and Sold by Timothy Green, Printer to the Government & Company, 1748

RARE Connecticut Election Sermon.

[Imprinted at London in Fletestrete, by Thomas Pswell (sic),] 1541
ONE OF THE EARLIEST BOOKS ON HEALTH WRITTEN IN ENGLISH. With good margins. This edition, printed by Thomas Powell, is much rarer than the edition printed the same year by Thomas Berthelet. There are slight variations in the spelling of words in the title and "Proheme" heading, but otherwise the collation, except the last two leaves, agrees with that of the Berthelet edition which has "1534" in border. In the present copy the text ends on verso of leaf "N 7," with the colophon on recto of "N 8," verso blank, while in the Berthelet edition, the text ends on recto of "N 7," colophon is on verso of same leaf, and the final leaf, "N 8" is entirely blank. The present copy was formerly the property of Gershom Bulkeley, of Wethersfield, Connecticut, and has his autograph signature at head of title.

Basle and Strassburg, 1523-1524

RARE TRACTS BY THE MOST PROMINENT MEN IN THE REFORMATION MOVEMENT. Faber was one of the most bitter and violent of Luther's opponents; François Lambert was a French Monk, but became a convert to Luther's doctrines about 1524. The above tract by him is probably one of his earliest writings in the cause of Protestantism.

Washington: Printed by Peter Force, 1836-1846

This collection of tracts on early American history is indispensable to all students. By far the larger number of the tracts concern the history of the South, but some of the most important have to do with New England. Among those of the greatest value in the collection are,—Nova Britannia: offering most excellent fruits by planting in Virginia, 1609; New Life of Virginia, 1612; New England's Plantation, 1630; John Smith's Description of New England, 1616; Smith's New England's Trials, 1622; Virginia and Maryland, or Lord Baltimore's Case, uncased and answered, 1655; True declaration of the Colonie in Virginia, 1610; Description of the Bermudas, 1613; Declaration of the Colonie in Virginia, 1620; Shrigley's Relation of Virginia and Maryland, 1669; Williams. Virginia Richly Valued, 1650; Hammond. Leah and Rachel, the true fruitful sisters Virginia and Maryland, 1656; Hilton's Relation of Florida, 1664; Hakluyt. Virginia Richly valued, 1609; and many others on New England, Virginia, Maryland, Georgia and South Carolina. There are altogether 52 tracts in the 4 vols.

414. FORCE (PETER). Tracts and Other Papers, Relating principally to the Origin, Settlement, and Progress of the Colonies in North America, from the Discovery of the Country to the Year 1776. Folding diagram. 4 vols., 8vo, half brown morocco, gilt tops.

. FIRST EDITION. SCARCE. The text is in excellent condition, with some margins uncut, and with an original blank leaf at end of text, and one at end of Register, which are not mentioned by Sabin nor the John Carter Brown Catalogue. Otherwise the collation agrees with that given by Sabin, HARRISSE, and Carter Brown. The portion relating to America begins on verso of folio ccx.

With numerous manuscript notes in German and Hebrew, some signed,—I H.

5. 418. FRANCK (SEBASTIAN). Paradoxa ducenta octoginta, Dat is, CCLXXX. Wonderreden, ende recht als Raetselen wt de heylige Schrift. . . Small 8vo, contemporary stamped calf, brass clasps, binding repaired, one clasp broken, title-page and some other leaves cleaned. No place, circa 1550

Sebastian Franck van Word was a well-known German writer of the 16th Century, and the above Dutch translation of his work was probably published about 1550 to 1560.

16. 419. FRANKLIN (BENJAMIN). New Experiments and Observations on Electricity, Made at Philadelphia in America, by Benjamin Franklin, Esq., and Communicated in Several Letters to P. Collinson, Esq., of London, F.R.S. Second Edition. Three Parts in one volume, small 4to, half calf, binding broken and leaves stained.

London: Printed and sold by D. Henry and R. Cave, at St. John's-Gate. 1754

THE ORIGINAL ISSUES OF ALL THREE PARTS, each with its separate title-page, dated 1754. Sabin gives collation as pp. (2), 154, but does not mention the plate, stating also that copies were made up with title-pages bearing various dates. This copy agrees with the collation as given by Ford under Numbers 78, 94 and 96, with the exception that Part I lacks pp. 83-86 and the plate.

The Third Part of this work is the FIRST EDITION and contains additions not in the 1751 issue, including also the paper by J. Canton and another in the defense of Mr. Franklin against the Abbe Nollet by Mr. David Colden of New York.

"These experiments and discoveries, which have given Franklin such fame, were the work of four men: Benjamin Franklin, Philip Syng, Thomas Hopkinson and Ebenezer Kinnersley; but owing to Franklin writing of them to England, they were published in his name, and have redounded to his credit solely."—Ford.

6. 419A. [FRANKLIN (BENJAMIN).] The Examination of Doctor Benjamin Franklin, before an August Assembly, relating to the Repeal of the Stamp Act, etc. 12mo, pp. 16, stitched, slightly foxed, a 2-line note in ink in upper margin. [Philadelphia: Hall and Sellers, 1766]

RARE FIRST EDITION, with the correct pagination. Issued without title, the above caption at top of page one.

Second Session, Tuesday Evening, March 22nd

An Oration on the Death of Dr. Jonathan Bird. Hartford, 1787. RARE; COLTON (WALTER). Masonic Obligations. Middletown, 1826, and other Masonic pamphlets; also a few Anti-Masonic pamphlets, and HARDIE'S New Free-Mason's Monitor, New York, 1818. 19 pamphlets and one vol. sheep. Together, 20 pieces.

Various places, various dates

Laid in one of the above pieces is Bro. Amos Doolittle's finely engraved certificate (on vellum), of the Grand Lodge of Connecticut, April 26, 1799, which certifies that Bro. Elisha Smith has been made a Master Mason.

5. 424. FRENCH AND INDIAN WAR. Prince (Thomas). The Salvations of God in 1746. In Part set forth in a Sermon At the South Church in Boston, Nov. 27. 1746. Being the Anniversary Thanksgiving In the Province of Massachusetts Bay in N. E. 8vo, pp.35, old wrappers, half-title and last leaf torn. Boston: Printed for D. Henchman, 1746
Autograph of Bruster, Lebanon, 1749. Important Historical Sermon.

20. 425. FRENCH AND INDIAN WAR. BROADSIDE. An Elegy on the Death of Mr. Nathaniel Burt, Deacon of the Church of Christ at Longmeadow and Lieutenant in his Majesty's service; who was killed in the memorable battle of Lake George, Sept. 8, 1755, in the 45th year of his age. Small folio, untrimmed edges. No place, no date [1755]

FINE COPY OF AN EXCEEDINGLY RARE CONTEMPORARY BROADSIDE POEM. Printed in two columns, several lines each. Four printed notes at foot of the text refer to a letter mentioned in the text of the poem, as being from the Reverend Stephen Williams, and to the author, who,—“About a week before this battle, had in reality a dream, of the same import as here set forth.”

The “Elegy” commences,—

*When I my weary limbs for rest repos'd
And downy slumbers scarce my eyes had clos'd
Imagination wild, dress'd up a scene
Of frightful images, and war between.*

[No. 425. FRENCH AND INDIAN WAR.—Continued]

Ferris's "Battle of Lake George" gives at page 13 a list of "Returns of the killed, wounded and missing." In this list, appear the names of Colonel Ephram Williams and Lieutenant Burt, both from the Third Massachusetts Regiment. The latter being the person whose death is eulogized in the above poem.

The Reverend Stephen Williams referred to in the note was Chaplain of this regiment.

50. 426. FRENCH AND INDIAN WAR. [Fish (Joseph).] [Angels Ministering to the People of God, for their Safety and Comfort in Times of Danger and Distress. A Sermon preached at Westerly in the Colony of Rhode-Island. Aug. 27th, 1755. 559. HAZARD (EBENEZER). Historical Collections; consisting of State Papers, and other Authentic Documents, intended as Materials for an History of the United States of America. 3 vols. royal 4to, half russia, uncut, bindings somewhat rubbed.

22. Philadelphia: Printed by T. Dobson, for the Author, 1792-1794

Inserted is an A.L.S., by Samuel Hazard, the author's father, dated, New Town, Oct. 23, 1780. To Col. Wadsworth. Requesting him to add his name to those of the other subscribers in a petition going before Gov. Trumbull.

The second volume is filled with marginal notes, which according to a note appearing on the fly-leaf, written by J. H. Trumbull, are corrections made after having collated Hazard's Notes with the original documents. The note reads in part,— "Hazard's copy of the Records of the Comm<sup>r</sup>s of the United Colonies was made from that of the Plymouth Colony, now in the Secretary's office in Boston. I have collated this volume with—and corrected it by—the Connecticut copy of the Records; . . . References to original minutes of sessions, not recorded in either the Plymouth or Connecticut copies, correspondence, etc. are given in their places. It goes without saying that this volume contains the most trustworthy Records of the Commissioners, of higher authority than the Plymouth, or than the Connecticut MS. Record, which is greatly superior to the Plymouth from which Hazard printed."

560. HERALDIC JOURNAL (THE), Recording the Armorial Bearings and Genealogies of American Families. Illustrations in the text. From January 1865 to October 1868. 4 vols. bound in one, 8vo, half roan, uncut, binding broken.

London, Printed by John Haviland, for Andrew Crooke . . . 1638

FINE COPY, WITH WIDE MARGINS, UNUSUALLY CLEAN AND WELL-PRESERVED. The Soules Benefit from Vnion With Christ, has special title-page, but is included in the pagination. Sabin (No. 32850) gives the pagination as,—pp.(16), 311 i.e. 313," but he is mistaken in this, the paging being correct as printed,—311.

The author, on account of his non-conformity, was obliged to flee from England, and in 1633 in company with John Cotton, he emigrated to New England, being obliged to conceal himself until in mid-ocean. On his arrival, he was, on October 11, 1663, chosen pastor of the church in Cambridge, the third in the colony of Massachusetts. In June, 1636, he removed with his entire congregation to the banks of the Connecticut, where he founded the town of Hartford. According to Mather, Hooker was "A Son of Thunder."

London, Printed by R. Bishop for Stephen Pilkington . . . 1647

FIRST EDITION. Reprinted in 1782 with author's name as, "John Hart," on title-page.

Contains references to Rev. Thomas Hooker. Hooker became rector at Esher, Surrey about 1620. The income of the living was only 40£ a year, but Francis Drake, the patron, received Hooker into his own house. Drake's wife, the account of whom is given in this work, was under the hallucination that she had committed some great sin, and Hooker succeeded in comforting her after Ussher and John Dod had failed. In 1626, Hooker married Mrs. Drake's servingwoman, and removed shortly after this to Chelmsford, Essex.

The Henry Stevens copy, bound for him by Francis Bedford.

- 10 590. HOOKER (THOMAS). A Comment upon Christ's last Prayer In the Seventeenth of John. Printed from the Authors own Papers, written with his own Hand. And attested to be such, in an Epistle, By Thomas Goodwin, and Philip Nye. Small 4to, pp.[26], 532, contemporary calf, sides blind tooled, red label. London: Printed by Peter Cole. 1656

"Mr. Hooker's Seventeenth Book Made in New-England." With bookplate of Jno: Bouchier Esq. 1739. and autograph,—Jo: Bouchier, on title.

- 20 591. HOOKER (THOMAS). A Comment upon Christ's last Prayer in the Seventeenth of John . . . [With] an Epistle by Thomas Goodwin, and Philip Nye. Small 4to, old calf, rebacked, gilt designs on back and sides, leather label, slightly rubbed, some margins of text have light stains, tear in 2 leaves, not damaging text. London: Printed by Peter Cole, 1656

FIRST EDITION. HAS RARE HALF-TITLE, with caption vertical. The author was the first minister of Cambridge, Mass., and one of the founders of the Colony of Connecticut. He has been called the "Luther of New England."

- 30 592. HOOKER (THOMAS). The Application of Redemption, . . . for the bringing home of lost Sinners to God. The first eight books: . . . Small 8vo, half calf, name on title, binding rubbed, cracked at hinges, light stains on margins of leaves. London: Printed by Peter Cole . . . 1657

RARE ORIGINAL 8VO EDITION. Sabin mentions an edition printed in London in 1656, but fails to give printer or collation. The Second Edition he calls a 4to, printed by Peter Cole in 1659. "The entire work" he says, "is rarely found complete, the first volume, in 8vo, being almost unknown."

593. HOOKER (THOMAS). The Application of Redemption by the Effectual Work of the Word, and Spirit of Christ, for the bringing home of lost Sinners to God. The Ninth and Tenth Books . . . By that Faithful, and known Servant of Christ; Mr. Thomas Hooker . . . Printed from the Authors Papers, Written with his own Hand, and attested to be such, in an Epistle. By Thomas Goodwin, and Philip Nye. The Second Edition. With wood-cut coat-of-arms "Cole 1216," on verso of leaf D2. Small 4to, old morocco, worn, hinges breaking, title mended and small blank corner torn off, corner of one leaf burned destroying several words, some headings cropped, old writings on some margins. London: Printed by Peter Cole . . . 1659

VERY RARE. THE BRINLEY COPY IS THE ONLY ONE WHICH HAS BEEN OFFERED AT AUCTION IN MANY YEARS. The Brinley copy is collated as,—pp.(20),702,28; Sabin gives collation as,—pp.(22),702,(30). The present copy lacks one leaf at beginning of "To the Reader," having, Title, and 9 leaves before the text, or a total of 20pp. which with the lacking leaf, makes 22pp.; the Table of Contents covers 25pp. followed by 5pp. of Advertisements of Books printed by P. Cole, making 30pp. at end. This copy, therefore, agrees with the collation which Sabin gives, the Brinley copy was apparently incomplete.

594. HOOKER (THOMAS). A Letter from the Rev. Thomas Hooker of Hartford, in Answer to the Complaints of Gov. Winthrop, of Massachusetts, against Connecticut. 8vo, wrappers. 3 copies. Hartford, 1859

With presentation inscription by the Editor, J. H. Trumbull, on front wrapper of one copy.

KENTUCKY LEGISLATURE.

In the House of Representatives,

NOVEMBER 10th, 1798.

THE HOUSE according to the standing Order of the Day, resolved itself into a Committee of the Whole on the state of the Commonwealth,

Mr. CALDWELL in the Chair,

And after sometime spent therein the Speaker resumed the Chair, and Mr. Caldwell reported, that the Committee had according to order had under consideration the Governor's Address, and had come to the following RESOLUTIONS thereupon, which he delivered in at the Clerk's table, where they were twice read and agreed to by the House.

I. RESOLVED, that the several states composing the United States of America, are not united on the principle of unlimited submission to their General Government; but that by compact under the style and title of a Constitution for the United States and of amendments thereto, they constituted a General Government for special purposes, delegated to that Government certain definite powers, reserving each state to itself, the residuary mass of right to their own self Government; and that whenever the General Government assumes undelegated powers, its acts are unauthorized, void, and of no force: That to this compact each state acceded as a state, and is an integral party, its co-states forming as to itself, the other party: That the Government created by this compact was not made the exclusive or final judge of the extent of the powers delegated to itself; since that would have made its discretion, and not the constitution, the measure of its powers; but that as in all other cases of compact among parties having no common Judge, each party has an equal right to judge for itself, as well of infractions as of the mode and measure of redress.

II. Resolved, that the Constitution of the United States having delegated to Congress a power to punish treason, counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States, piracies and felonies committed on the High Seas, and offences against the laws of nations, and no other crimes whatever, and it being true as a general principle, and one of the amendments to the Constitution having also declared, "that the powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people;" therefore also the same act of Congress passed on the 14th day of July, 1798, and entitled "An act in addition to the act entitled an act for the punishment of certain crimes against the United States;" as also the act passed by them on the 27th day of June, 1798, entitled "An act to punish frauds committed on the Bank of the United States" (and all other their acts which assume to create, define, or punish crimes other than those enumerated in the constitution) are altogether void and of no force, and that the power to create, define, and punish such other crimes is reserved, and of right appertains solely and exclusively to the respective states, each within its own Territory.

III. Resolved, that it is true as a general principle, and is also expressly declared by one of the amendments to the Constitution that "the powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively or to the people;" and that no power over the freedom of religion, freedom of speech, or freedom of the press being delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, all lawful powers respecting the same did of right remain, and were reserved to the states, or to the people: That thus was manifested their determination to retain to themselves the right of judging how far the licentiousness of speech and of the press may be abridged without lessening their useful freedom, and how far those abuses which cannot be separated from

631. LAND GRANTS OF CONNECTICUT. SUSQUEHANNA. Gale (Benjamin). Doct. Gale's Letter, to J. W. Esquire, containing a Narrative of the Principal Matters, of a Public and Interesting Nature, which were Subjects of the Debates and Resolves of the General Assembly of the Colony of Connecticut, during their Sessions in May, 1769. pp.(2), (3)-34; [Also] Remarks on Dr. Gale's Letter to J. W. Esq; [By Eliphalet Dyer.] pp.(2), 3-27. 12mo, half morocco, gilt panelled back, gilt top, uncut, BY PRATT.

Hartford: Printed and Sold by Green & Watson, . . . 1769 [and]
Printed, Anno 1769

FINE LARGE UNCUT COPIES OF BOTH TRACTS which relate to a dispute between New York and Connecticut about the settlement in Pennsylvania, under the name of Susquehanna.

The author of the second tract was a leading Connecticut Politician and Lawyer. In 1763, he was sent to England to get from the crown confirmation of title to lands selected by the Connecticut Colony in the Valley of the Susquehanna, at Wyoming.

The "Remarks on Dr. Gale's Letter," was written by (or for) Col. Eliphalet Dyer, who, sent as agent for the Susquehanna Land Company to England, returned as Comptroller of His Majesty's Customs. Dr. Gale rejoined by "Observations on a pamphlet entitled 'Remarks . . . of which the Hon. Eliphalet Dyer is the reputed Author.'" Hartford, n.d. (1769)

In 1753 an association called the "Susquehanna Company" was formed, and with the consent of the Connecticut Assembly, was granted by the Crown leave to plant a new Colony west of the Delaware. The following year this company obtained from the Representatives of the "Six Nations" at Albany, the grant of a tract of land on the eastern branch of the Susquehanna River.

[Amsterdam:] Cornelis Claesz, [1599]

RARE. CONTAINS A NUMBER OF MAPS SHOWING AMERICA. The collation of this copy is as follows,—Engraved title, 7 preliminary leaves, pp.462, 1 blank leaf, pp.192, including 5 plates and 164 maps. This varies from the collation for Library of Congress copy and that given by Tiele, in the second part, having 192pp., instead of 196,(4), and containing 164 maps instead of 165, the map of America (Part 1, p.35) not being repeated on p.143 of Part 2. Aside from these variations, this copy agrees with Tiele, having the usual variations from the FIRST EDITION, as he lists them. [See, Phillips, List of Geographical Atlases in the Library of Congress, Vol. I, No. 410; Tiele, P. A., Nederlandsche bibliographie van Land- en volkenkunde, p.56.

658. LANGUAGES AND EDUCATION. A collection of pamphlets, transactions of societies of philology, excerpts etc., relating to various languages. About 170 pieces. 4to and smaller, wrappers and unbound.

Various places, various dates

Unusual and very interesting collection, comprising issues of The Transactions of the "American Philological Association" (one of which contains Dr. Trumbull's contribution "On Algonkin Names for Man."); Memoir of the Comparative Grammar Egyptian, Coptic and Ude, by Hyde Clarke; A Chinese Chrestomathy in the Canton Dialect, by E. C. Bridgman. Macao, 1841, autograph presentation copy from the author; and a large number of others.

659. [LANGUET (HUBERT).] Vindiciæ contra Tyrannos: A Defence of Liberty against Tyrants. . . . Being a Treatise written in Latin and French by Junius Brutus, and Translated out of both into English [by William Walker]. Small 4to, pp.(4), 164. London, Printed for Richard Baldwin, 1689; [ALSO] Vindiciæ contra Tyrannos: sive, De Principis in Populum, Populique in Principem, legitima potestate, Stephano Junio Bruto Celta, Auctore. Printer's device on title. Small 8vo, pp.(14), 222 (pages 211-212 lacking). Amsterdam, H. Laurentius, 1610. 2 vols. in one vol. small 4to, half calf, rubbed, manuscript notes on fly-leaves and second title.

Amsterdam and London, 1610-1689

Second Edition of the English Translation, interleaved with a Latin Edition, so that the two texts run almost parallel. This work is attributed to Hubert Languet, friend of Sir Philip Sydney, and an ardent Protestant. The English translation was the work of William Walker, the actual executioner of King Charles I. Brunet lists the work under Brutus (S. J.), but says it was probably by Languet. The manuscript notes in the book, give a biographical sketch of Languet and extracts from various works relating to him and the subject of the work, the Rights of the People.

INSERTED IS A RARE BROADSIDE entitled,—King Killing. Shall Kings alone claim exemption from Law, an impunity of Wickedness? [On the rights of a people to destroy a ruler who is a tyrant, etc., ending with the words,—] Let us destroy this huge Colossus, under which the tall aspiring head of Liberty cannot pass! 11 4to, 9 x 7¾ inches, small part of inner margin trimmed away for folding.

Without this book the "Platform" never would have been published. Increase Mather says,—“There is a book which bears the title of, ‘An Answer of the Elders’, etc. Printed in the year 1643. Of which book my father (Richard) Mather was the sole author. And he wrote it in the primitive Times of these Churches (in 1639) as himself assured me. What he wrote was approved of by other Elders, especially by Mr. Cotton.”

[No. 747. MORMONISM.—Continued]

In the year succeeding the first settlement (1831) of the Mormons in Missouri, the first settlers of the district determined to drive the new-comers from the country. The outrages which followed, in 1838, when the Mormons began to resist by force, placed them in the wrong, and Governor Boggs called out the militia to suppress the insurrection. After a skirmish at Haughlin's mill, the Mormons gave up their arms and agreed to leave the state, their leaders being later tried. The Evidence and Proceedings relating to this trial are printed in the above tract.

OF THIS RARE WORK SABIN SAYS THAT HE HAS SEEN BUT ONE COPY. This is the only copy that has come under our observation.

Part II . . . pp.(8), 143. [Philadelphia:] Printed for the Author, 1795. Together, 2 parts, 12mo, stitched, Part I has several margins uncut. Philadelphia, 1794-1795

THE RARE FIRST AMERICAN EDITION of Part I, and the EXCEEDINGLY RARE ORIGINAL EDITION of Part 2. Cheetham in his "Life of Thomas Paine," states that the Second Part was published by Paine "in October 1796." The Preface in the present copy, however, is dated October 1795 and the imprint on title is also dated 1795, therefore this issue is of necessity prior to the one mentioned by Cheetham.

Both copies are perfect with the half-titles, Part II being undoubtedly issued and printed in Philadelphia by the same firm that printed the First American Edition of Part I.

Amstelrodami: In ædibus A. Thorpij, 1611

RARE. FINE COPY, WITH WIDE MARGINS AND IN EXCELLENT CONDITION. This work was begun by Sanford, who, after working on it for two years, died, and it was finished by Parker after four years further work. Written in reply to the work of Thomas Bilson, Bishop of Winchester, on the doctrine in the Apostle's Creed of Christ's Descent into Hell. Robert Parker, himself, never came to America, but his son, Thomas (1595-1677) was one of the founders of the town of Newbury, Massachusetts, and a famous New England divine.

There are several references to America as found in books of the early Greek writers.

The Dedication is by Hugh Peters, an English dissenting minister. In 1635 Peters came to New England, and the following year he became pastor of the church of Salem, Massachusetts, succeeding Roger Williams. He took a warm interest in the founding of the Colony of Connecticut; returning to England in 1641 he won many recruits for the Parliamentary army, and was finally executed at Charing Cross in 1660.

LARGE COPY. SCARCE. "This was a case of very great importance at the time it took place. The plaintiff bought meat of the defendant, a butcher, and tendered him certain paper money issued by act of the General Assembly of Rhode Island, which was refused. The defendant pleaded 'that it appears the Act had expired, and hath no force'. 'The whole community', says Mr. Updyke, 'was stirred to its very foundation. Upon its issue was involved the destiny of thousands. Public feeling was intense upon its result. The crisis arose, and the experiment was on trial, whether the people were capable of self-government; and upon the issue depended the fate of the nation'."

- 919A. SESSION LAWS OF CONNECTICUT. Acts and Laws of His Majesty's English Colony of Connecticut, in New-England, in America. Small folio, original sheep, rubbed.

Re-printed and Sold by Thomas and Samuel Green, in New-Haven, and Timothy Green, in New-London, 1769

This edition is made up largely from the 1750 revision with the "Charter and Table" added, and has bound in at end all the Session Laws from the Second Thursday of October, 1768 to the Seventh Day of January, 1779, paged continuously, each with its separate colophon and imprint.—New London: Printed by Thomas Green, 1768–1779. A few of the margins of these Session Laws are stained, others have been hinged on inner margins, lower margins of the last six burnt by fire not injuring text, a few of the pages in the body of the original work are somewhat mildewed.

A highly important Connecticut item. It is very seldom that such a long, and consecutive series, especially those relating to the early days of the Revolutionary War (33), of Session Laws is found in any of these early law books.

959. SHEPARD (THOMAS). The Sincere Convert: Discovering the small number of true Beleevers, And the great difficulty of Saving Conversion. London: Printed for Matthew Simmons, 1650; The Sound Beleever. A Treatise of Evangelicall Conversion. London: Printed for R. Dawlman, 1649; Certain Select Cases Resolved. London: Printed by W. H. for John Rothwell, 1650; Subjection to Christ in all his Ordinances, and Appointments, The best means to preserve our Liberty. London: Printed for John Rothwell, 1652. Together, 4 tracts bound in one volume, small 8vo, old calf, rebacked, a few margins mended, last leaf cut down and mounted. London, 1649-1652

The author's name appears on the various tracts,—(1) Shephard (2) Shepard (3 and 4) Tho. Shephard.

Thomas Shepard sailed for America in 1635 and settled in Boston, and from that time till his death was pastor of the Church in Cambridge, succeeding Thomas Hooker. He soon became involved in the Antinomian controversy, actively opposed the innovators, and was a member of the synod that silenced them.

960. SHEPARD (THOMAS). The Sound Believer, a Treatise of Evangelical Conversion, Discovering the Work of Christ's Spirit, in reconciling of a Sinner to God. 12mo, contemporary boards, with calf back, worn. Boston: Green, Bushell, and Allen, 1742

962. [SHERMAN (ROGER)?] An Address to the Legislature and People of the State of Connecticut, on the Subject of dividing the State into Districts for the Election of Representatives in Congress. By a Citizen of Connecticut. 8vo, pp.37, half morocco, uncut, lettered up back, name on title. New-Haven: T & S. Green, 1791

Mr. Trumbull has written Mr. Sherman's name on title, as the possible author. Not listed in Evans.

- 27.50
963. SHORTHAND WRITING. Willis (John). The School-Master to the Art of Stenography. . . The second Edition. Small 8vo, pp.(102), light calf, rebacked with morocco, edges of binding damaged by fire, tiny corners restored on title and last few leaves.

London: Printed for Henry Seyle . . . 1628

Interiorly a fine, clean copy.

- 57.50
964. SHORTHAND WRITING. Willis (John). The Art of Stenography: or, Short-Writing, by Spelling Characterie. . . The tenth Edition. Whereunto is now adjoyned the Schoolmaster to the said Art. . . Engraved plates. Small 8vo, pp.(32), light calf, rebacked with morocco, edges of binding slightly damaged by fire.

London: Printed for Henry Seyle . . . 1632

The spaces for short-hand characters have been left blank in printing, and have been filled in by hand, by Dr. Trumbull, from a copy filled in probably by Willis himself. The plates at the end have engravings on both sides, those on the verso having been engraved separately, trimmed to plate, and mounted on the other leaf.

Third Session, Wednesday Afternoon, March 23rd

25. 965. SHORTHAND WRITING. Shelton (Thomas). Tachy-Graphy. The Most exact and compendious methode of short and swift writing that hath ever yet been published by any. Title within woodcut border, engraved plates. Small 8vo, pp.(10), 52, modern morocco, blind and gilt tooled, gilt edges, old writing on fly-leaf, last leaf mended, a few pages cut close shaving headlines.

[London:] at the Professours house in the Poultreys near the Church. 1645

VERY RARE AND HIGHLY PRIZED WORK ON SHORTHAND. The fly-leaf preceding the title has been inserted from an earlier work, and contains the AUTOGRAPH SIGNATURE OF,—Mathew Sutcliffe. On the reverse of the same leaf is pasted a slip of paper containing a second signature of Sutcliffe. Mathew Sutcliffe (or Sutcliffe), Dean of Exeter, was always deeply interested in the settlement of New England, assisted Captain John Smith, and in 1607 became a member of the Council for Virginia, and in 1620, of that for New England. In 1624 he was one of the commissioners appointed to wind up the affairs of the Virginia Company. Sutcliffe died in 1629. His nephew was one of the early settlers in New England. Below the signature of Sutcliffe, is written another name and the date "1643," but the name has been marked out with ink, so that only the capital letters are decipherable, the given name beginning with "J," the surname with "H" or "W."

5. 966. SHORTHAND WRITING. Shelton (Thomas). Zeiglographia, or A New art of Short-writing never before published. . . . Title and last page engraved by J.G.[John Goddard?] 16mo, 4 leaves (including title), 56pp. calf, marbled edges, binding rubbed, two corners with small tears, slight ink markings on few pages.

FIRST EDITION. SCARCE.

15. 967. SHORTHAND WRITING. Everardt (Job). An Epitome of Stenographie. . . . Being a brief, yet plain and full discovery of all the Grounds of the whole Art, etc. With the very rare frontispiece, in compartments,—"Swifter than the Poste," "Swifter than Ships," (representation of a three masted ship under full sail), etc. 12mo, contemporary calf, rebacked, joints weak.

[London] 1658

FIRST EDITION OF THIS RARE WORK, and with the exception of two or three tiny wormings, a fine copy. Contains the leaf preceding the frontispiece, as well as the leaf of "Errata," at the end, both of which are usually missing.

The work is "Epitomiz'd" in "these three and thirty languages following," one of which is "West Indian; new England."

17. 968. SHORTHAND WRITING. Hopkins (William). The Flying Pen-Man; or, The Art of Short-Writing. Engraved title-page, and each page printed within engraved borders. 16mo, full calf, covers loose.

London: Printed for Samuel Lee [1670 or 1674]

Either the first or the second edition, there is no indication which, either in the work or other places consulted. If it is the second then it lacks the portrait.

It is of special American interest, as it was designed to "accommodate our merchants, and others English in the parts beyond the seas . . . that there, in spite of Misguided Zeal, the Doctrine which is only necessary (but forbidden to be read in our Native Language on the other side of the water), may be read secretly and at pleasure," etc.

13. 969. SHORTHAND WRITING. Rich (Jeremiah). Maximum in Minimo: or, Mr. Jeremiah Rich's Pen's Dexterity Compleated. Being the Plainest & Easiest Method of Writing Short-hand. To which are added the Terms of ye law Compleat in Characters and at length. Never done till now, by Samuel

Romæ: Typis Bernabo et Lazzarini, apud Faustum Amideum, 1762

RARE. FINE COPY. Thomas Hollis' own copy, without the Dedication to him, to which he objected. The following note by Dr. Trumbull is written on the fly-leaf,—The Abbate Venuti undertook this work at the request of Thomas Hollis,—“amicus et doctus vir” to whom reference is made in the preface. Mr. Hollis contributed liberally to the expenses of publication, and received from the author fifty copies of the work which, he says, “one excepted, shall be scattered nobly among the author's patrons and friends, and the ingenious.” Hollis's Memoirs, 109, 156-7.

Third Session, Wednesday Afternoon, March 23rd

This appears to be Hollis's reserved copy. It has on the guard-leaves all the symbols, one or another of which he impressed on his favorite books; and it has not the Dedication which was printed in England, from the author's manuscript, and prefixed to the dissertation,—but which Hollis did not altogether approve. See Memoirs, p. 156.

One of Hollis's fifty copies he presented to the library of Harvard College, and this is the only copy I have found of the work, in any American library. [Signed] J. H. T.

1114. WITCHCRAFT IN NEW ENGLAND. Hutchinson (Francis). An Historical Essay concerning Witchcraft; and also Two Sermons. The Second Edition, with considerable additions. 8vo, mottled calf, gilt back, leather label, slightly rubbed. London, 1720

The author, a noted Irish Bishop, was one of the few sensible men who opposed the prevailing ideas of witchcraft. The volume is of extreme importance as being the earliest complete history of the delusion, commencing with the earliest known cases, 2000 years B.C. and continuing to the date of writing. A full account is given of the cases of Salem Witchcraft and in New England generally, and the author attacks Cotton Mather's arguments.

1121. WOODBRIDGE (BENJAMIN). Justification by Faith, or, a Confutation of that Antinomian Error, that Justification is before Faith; Being The Sum & Substance of a Sermon Preached at Sarum; By Benjamin Woodbridge, Minister of Newberry in Barkshire. Small 4to, 36pp., half morocco, lettered on back. London, 1653

RARE ORIGINAL EDITION, with "Imprimatur," signed "Edward Calamy" and dated,—"May 26, 1652." This is the first book by the FIRST GRADUATE OF HARVARD COLLEGE, who in 1649 wrote an "Epistle to the Reader" for Thomas Parker's "Letters to his Sister Elizabeth Avery," and which appeared in printed form in the same work. Sibley states that "This is probably the second work printed by any Harvard College graduate, the first being by Ames, of the class of 1645." Mr. Trumbull in a manuscript note on the fly-leaf of this copy calls attention to Sibley "who had not heard of this first, nor seen the second edition, whose title he had at second hand."

This tract embodies the contents of the dispute between Woodbridge and William Eyre on a lecture by Thomas Warren of Houghton, which lecture contained "unsound doctrines."
